The "block Communism" authorization won swift votes of adoption in both house and senate in the form worked out by a conference committee of the two bodies.

Meanwhile, another conference committee reported "progress" in its first meeting to compromise different versions in the 350 million dollar relief bill. The group was continuing its de-

At the same time President Truman renewed his plea for adoption of the relief bill. The President made his request in a letter to congress accompanying the tenth quarterly report on UNRRA operations. Mr. Truman also asked congress to appropriate 75 million dollars for the international refugee organization.

Next on the foreign policy program stood the Italian and Balkan peace treaties. But Sen. Connally (D) Tex., said the resignation of Italian premier Alcide de Gasperi and his cabinet may delay senate ratification of the four peace pacts.

House-senate conferees, however, had to compromise a 150million dollar difference between their respective versions of the direct relief bill. The house cut the fund to 200 million dollars. The senate defeated a similar GOP move and approved the full 350 million dollar figure by a thumping 79 to 4 vote.

Senate officials expect the relief bill to be settled by the conferees at a compromise level of 300 million dollars, with virtually no change in the "safeguards" against diversion of supplies written in by the senate.

The foreign relations committee headed by Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich. unanimously approved the peace treaties for Italy, Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania last

The committee's voluminous written report has been delayed by Vandenberg's schedule of work on the Greek-Turkish and European relief bills.

NEW HOPE FOR SCHOOLS

EDUCATORS ARE looking forward to a new era in schoolteaching. In many states legislation either has been passed, or is in the making, designed to increase teachers' salaries. Anticipating this, school officials already are planning new approaches to the whole matter of teacher hiring. A strong teacher recruitment program is to go into effect designed to interest the more able students both in high schools and colleges in qualifying for a teaching career. Temporary certificated or unqualified teachers are to be replaced, and qualified teachers are to be assigned with greater consideration for their aptitudes.

Let's Talk Sense About Food Prices

In all the talk about lower prices, don't forget this:

Day in and day out, no retailer does a better job of keeping prices down than your food merchant. No food merchant does a better job than A&P.

We would like you to understand two important things about A&P's price situation:

Our net profit during the past five years has averaged only about 1 cent on each dollar of sales. If we were to operate our business without any profit at all, this 1 cent would amount to a saving of less than 4 cents a day on the entire food bill of the average American family.

We sincerely believe that A&P has the lowest cost of distribution of any retail business in the world. When you spend $1.00 in an A&P store, you get 86 cents worth of food and only about 14 cents goes to meet all expenses - wages, taxes, rent, light, heat and the hundreds of other expenses incidental to the stocking and operating of a modern food store — including our very small profit.

Obviously there is little "fat" in such a price structure. Our operating costs and profits are already cut close to the bone.

Merchants generally have reduced prices on many items on which they were overstocked. In recent weeks we have reduced prices on hundreds of such items. That is common merchandising practice and has no relation to a general or permanent price reduction.

While many food prices have already been lowered we must recognize that no substantial general reduction in retail food prices is possible until the cost of food to the retailer is reduced.

As any housewife knows, A&P's business has been built on the policy of selling quality food at the lowest practical price every day.

We pledge to our customers strict adherence to that policy. We will continue to lower our prices as fast as reductions in costs to us and economies in our operations permit.

Let's Talk Sense About Food Prices

In all the talk about lower prices, don't forget this:

Day in and day out, no retailer does a better job of keeping prices down than your food merchant. No food merchant does a better job than A&P.

We would like you to understand two important things about A&P's price situation:

Our net profit during the past five years has averaged only about 1 cent on each dollar of sales. If we were to operate our business without any profit at all, this 1 cent would amount to a saving of less than 4 cents a day on the entire food bill of the average American family.

We sincerely believe that A&P has the lowest cost of distribution of any retail business in the world. When you spend $1.00 in an A&P store, you get 86 cents worth of food and only about 14 cents goes to meet all expenses - wages, taxes, rent, light, heat and the hundreds of other expenses incidental to the stocking and operating of a modern food store - including our very small profit.

Obviously there is little "fat" in such a price structure. Our operating costs and profits are already cut close to the bone.

Merchants generally have reduced prices on many items on which they were overstocked. In recent weeks we have reduced prices on hundreds of such items. That is common merchandising practice and has no relation to a general or permanent price reduction.

While many food prices have already been lowered we must recognize that no substantial general reduction in retail food prices is possible until the cost of food to the retailer is reduced.

As any housewife knows, A&P's business has been built on the policy of selling quality food at the lowest practical price every day.

We pledge to our customers strict adherence to that policy. We will continue to lower our prices as fast as reductions in costs to us and economies in our operations permit.

Blackwell Blanks Dodgers As Reds Grab Second Straight From Bums

NEW YORK, May 15-As fickle Spring weather plays havoc with scheduled ball games, the big questions in the major leagues today continue to be: 1. What has happened to the still-slumping, once-lordly St.

Louis Cardinals who are stuck in the cellar? 2. What has happened to the New York Giants, last year's F. Decker, deceased. Final action of sunshine would put it in good the Redbirds five straight? They put on quite a show yester- to rack up his third victory of shape for the doubleheader proday with a six-run fourth inning the season and pitch the Cronin- gram which will start the seato make it two straight in St.

Louis, 6-4. The flustered Cardinals today are 7-1/2 games behind the league-leading Chicago Cubs after sustaining their 15th defeat in 21 jousts with league rivals.

Howie Pollet has lost four of five games. Murray Dickson has yet to win, having tasted defeat ators and appraisements, and ir supplemental inventory and appraisement, in the Probate Court of trouble and Alpha Brazle has not five straight times. George
